Eating in Taupō

Located right in the heart of the North Island is Taupō. Rich volcanic soils create fertile pastureland, while the forests and crystal-clear rivers call game hunters and anglers from around the world. Home to specialist growers and artisan producers, we are just as passionate about their products as the region where they're produced. And this passion can be tasted in the food you eat, with world-class dining at luxurious lodges, excellent bistros, bakeries, cafés, boutique food and wine merchants, award-winning takeouts and locally brewed craft beer and mead.

Shopping in Taupō

Simply park your car in the lakefront town centre and wander the streets, laneways and arcades. From fashion boutiques with racks lined with local and international designer labels, vintage stores, homeware and gift shops, ceramics, and art and craft galleries. Or if markets are more your thing, we've got you covered. Spend your weekends exploring the Taupō Market (Saturdays) and Market Central Taupō (Sundays), you'll find something for everyone.

From lake to plate

Taupō's vibrant seasonal produce and unique local ingredients are centrepieces of the innovative fine dining offered by Taupō's lodges, hotels, and restaurants.

What's offered by the pristine waters of Lake Taupō, its pure flowing rivers, and its all-year-round trout fishing is a true reflection of the quality of the environment in which it's grown. And while you can't buy trout, you can catch it yourself.

The region's chefs are skilled at preparing your fresh catch to enhance its distinctive flavour – smoked overnight, fresh to savor its pure, clean taste, pan-fried with simple ingredients to enhance its sweet notes. Or in this case, baked whole, the richness balanced by tangy black olives, sharp sundried tomatoes, and fresh herbs, served with the optimum side of a full-bodied, rich chardonnay.

For the full listings of restaurants, lodges, and hotels to cook your decadent catch, visit the lovetapu.com/trout. Our local restaurants and lodges will be happy to prepare your catch for you – just call and book in advance to savour your 'lake to plate' experience – the ultimate taste of the region.

Crafted with love

Our vibrant art and craft culture is bred by the relaxed pace of life here in Taupō. With many artists and artisans living in the region, beautiful pieces for the home are a specialty, inspired by stunning landscapes and native flora and fauna. From contemporary painting, sculpture, ceramics, and glass blowing to traditional Māori carvings and weaving. As well as uniquely kiwi classics made from wool, merino, and possum.

On Saturday and Sunday, Taupō Market and Market Central have stalls selling jewellery, hand-made children's clothing, artisan crafts and homewares, fresh produce, tasty street food and coffee along with live music.

Creatives are drawn to the region, and this is clear when you meander the laneways to discover over 80 murals created during the annual Graffiato: Taupō Street Art Festival. There is a feast for your eyes around every corner with vibrant, large-scale murals from renowned New Zealand and international street artists. Pick up your free walking map from the Taupō i-SITE.

Health, wellness & beauty

Taupō's natural thermal springs have been a place of rejuvenation and purification for centuries. The gently steaming wai ora (healing waters) that bubble up naturally throughout the region are known to relieve sore muscles, and the mineral-rich geothermal mud is prized by day spas as a body wrap to detoxify and deeply cleanse skin. An afternoon spent relaxing in the warm waters of a thermal pool at a spa resort or family-friendly hot pool complex (while the kids play) is a great way to end an active holiday or soak tired muscles after a long hike or bike ride.

At the region's luxury lodges, indulgent spas offer world-class massage, body and facial treatments, and wellness retreats. A full range of health, beauty and wellness products and treatments – from skincare to massages, including local approaches using volcanic hot stones, traditional Māori techniques and mānuka honey – can be found at the regions day spas like Skin Sanctuary and artisan stores such as Huka Honey Hive, along with several yoga centres around the region.
